

GERMAN SUPREME EFFORT TO CRUSH ALLIED FORCES NEAR AT HAND, ALL SIGNS INDICATE

Resumption Also of Drive on Italians Expected; Ludendorff Visits Austrian Headquarters to Personally Put the Machinery in Motion, Paris Newspaper Learns; Australians Improve Positions on 3,000 Yard Front.

GERMAN ARTILLERY GROWS ACTIVE ON WEST

Momentous happenings are in the making on the western front. The lull of the past few days will not continue long and it is not improbable the Germans will break it by hurling their masses against the Allied line to crush it if possible.

Correspondents at the front reporting that a new German blow is impending, obviously are unable to give ground for the belief but the Germans have had much time in which to prepare for further great strokes and it is known they have from 30 to 40 divisions in shape to throw into the fray. Added to this is the fact that the Germans have not been very active for more than a week and their counter attacks have not been carried out with the usual strength and determination.

Meanwhile the Allies are busy strengthening the positions taken from the enemy in the past week. Raids are being carried out here and there but not in great strength except in the case of the Australians who have moved forward 400 yards on a front of more than a mile in the Hamel region, south of the Somme. American sectors have been quiet since the activity of Saturday when the French made a slight gain near Chateau Thierry on a sector adjoining that held by the Americans. Berlin reports this very local incident as attacks in strong force which were repulsed.

On the Italian front the Italians are consolidating and strengthening the positions retaken near the mouth of the Piave. Vienna admits the loss of the ground east and southeast of Capo Sili, which was the nearest the enemy had got to Venice. There has been only slight activity in the mountain zone.

In the north, the residents of the Bolsheviki government in Moscow and joined the Entente. There is a great amount of war supplies in this region and American, French and British troops are guarding it while German and Finnish forces have been reported advancing in force northward from Finland.

Germany has not yet acted on the murder of Count von Mirbach in Moscow. The Bolsheviki government has made apology and has enforced strong measures in Moscow to endeavor to find the assassin. Former Premier Kerensky believes the Germans will march on Moscow, but thinks the murder is the first sign of awakened anti-German feeling in Russia.

PARIS, July 8.—A new offensive is impending on the Trentino front. General Ludendorff, says a dispatch to the Matin, from reliable sources in Switzerland, personally has visited the Austrian headquarters there and has hastened preparations for another blow against the Italians. Considerable reinforcements, it is added, are being concentrated at Innsbruck and Trent.

MAY BE FAR REACHING.

LONDON, July 8.—The assassination of Count Von Mirbach, the German ambassador to Russia, is viewed by the newspapers here as an event of great importance which may have far reaching results. The Daily Mail and the Daily Express agree that the assassination may have momentous consequences and compare it to the murder of Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo four years ago.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Fighting took place in Moscow between Bolshevik forces and revolutionary forces following the assassination of Count von Mirbach, the German foreign minister, according to an official dispatch today from Switzerland.

On leaving the German embassy, the dispatch says, the assassin took refuge in a house occupied by the revolutionary Socialists. This building was defended by machine guns. Details of the fighting have not been received.

ANNOUNCEMENT ON RUSSIAN ATTITUDE COMING SOON.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Intimations were given in official quarters today that a formal announcement in regard to the present attitude of the United States government toward Russia might be expected shortly.

So far there has been no official statement of any kind to throw light upon the important decision reached Saturday when President Wilson discussed the urgent appeal of the Allies for joint action in Russia with the heads of the state, war, and navy departments, and the chief military and naval officers. Unofficially, however, word went forth that a definite policy of action had been determined upon that would end the long period of waiting that followed the rise of the Bolsheviks.

GERMAN ARTILLERY ACTIVE ON WEST FRONT.

PARIS, July 8.—There was some activity last night by the artillery on the western front of the Marne salient between the forest of Villers-Cotterets and the Marne, today's war office shows. No infantry engagement took place.

SIX KILLED, THIRTY-THREE WOUNDED.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The Army casualty list today contained 50 names, divided as follows: Killed in action, 6; died of wounds, 13; died of accidents and other causes, 2; wounded severely, 29.

AUSTRALIANS ADVANCE ON 3,000-YARD FRONT.

LONDON, July 8.—Australian troops last night advanced their line on the Somme slightly on a front of 2,600 yards, says the official report.

LARGE QUANTITIES OF EXPLOSIVES FOUND IN HOME OF AUSTRIANS

By State Game Warden When Hunting for Guns; Powers of Officers to Be Enlarged.

During the last six months the state game warden in pursuing their search for firearms in the possession of unassimilated foreigners in the mining and industrial sections of the state, hundreds of guns, revolvers and other weapons have been taken from unassimilated aliens. In many instances game protectors had to enter the homes of foreigners suspected of possessing firearms and the discovery was made that in addition to firearms and knives, had many aliens, notably Austrians, had dynamite and other explosives in their homes. Some had dynamite, capped and prepared for firing, in trunks or bureaus in their homes and resented it being removed, while others declared that they were allowed to hold it because they were miners. Hoards of flour, sugar and other provisions, clothing and shoes were also discovered in sections where foreigners congregate.

To meet the situation steps are to be taken to enlarge the powers of the game warden for the purpose of preventing violation of the explosives, food and other state and federal war-time regulations. The attorney general has been asked to determine the powers of the governor to make the game warden special policemen or members of the volunteer state police under the act of 1917.

Pending decision as to increased powers the protectors, who have orders to round up firearms wherever in possession of foreigners, will report any discoveries of dynamite or explosives to the state police and of food or clothing in undue quantities to Federal administrators of the district. Any disorderly or seditious remarks or actions against the draft, food or fuel administrators or evidence of wasting will be immediately reported to the proper authorities.

operation between the coast and the Tomiora valley, the Italian war office announced today. The operation is in full and satisfactory development. The statement adds that "more than 1,000 prisoners so far have been taken by the Entente forces."

GROUND GAINED IN ITALIAN OPERATIONS.

ROME, July 8.—Italian troops yesterday advanced their front lines in the region of Col. a Pribile, the Italian war office announced today. In the Mont Grappa region the Italians gained further ground northward of Massik on Saturday.

NEW COLLECTION SYSTEM

Garbage Company Now Using Coupons; Strip of 10 Sells for $1.

A new and what will probably be a more popular system of payments for garbage collection has been inaugurated by the city garbage company. Instead of giving customers service at the rate of $1 a month as previously, a coupon system has been started under which a customer is supplied with a strip of coupons, one of which is given the collector each time the garbage is removed.

A strip of 10 tickets is given each customer on the payment of $1. By the coupon system the customer pays for the service rendered. Hereafter, the garbage may have been collected once or several times a month, and the customer paid $1 for the service, regardless of the number of times the garbage was hauled away. The coupons are good until used. However, and by giving a coupon with each collection of the garbage, the customer is sure of $1 worth of service before another payment is necessary.

KAISER ORDERS BREAK WITH RUSS GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, July 8.—As soon as Emperor William heard of the assassination of Count von Mirbach, the German ambassador to Russia, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch to Amsterdam, he ordered Foreign Secretary von Kuehlmann to break off negotiations with the Russian delegates in Berlin.

COUNTER REVOLUTION RAGES IN MOSCOW.

LONDON, July 8.—A serious counter revolution has broken out in Moscow, according to a semi-official Wolff Bureau telegram dated on Sunday. Fighting of great severity is taking place in the streets between Bolsheviks and Social revolutionists.

MOTOR ACCIDENTS CLAIM LIVES OF TWO OVER SUNDAY

Patrick J. Caffery Run Down at Brookvale Saturday Night.

DRIVER DOES NOT STOP

Victim, Well Known Trotter Man, Was on His Way Home From Connellsville, Found Lying in Ditch and Died at the Hospital; Boy Killed.

Two accidents in which a man and a boy were fatally injured, occurred on the Lehigh road over Sunday. Patrick J. Caffery, 56 years old, a well known resident of Trotter, was run down by a motorcycle Saturday night at Brookvale, by Joe Haddock of Lehighville No. 1, and about 11 o'clock was found lying in a ditch along the roadside in an unconscious condition. The injured man was hurriedly removed to the Cottage State hospital where he died at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The body was taken charge of by Funeral Director J. L. Stader and was later removed to the Caffery home, from which the funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock. At 9 o'clock requiem high mass will be celebrated at the Immaculate Conception church, of which Mr. Caffery was a member, by Rev. Father John T. Burns. Interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

According to eye witnesses to the accident Haddock, after striking Mr. Caffery, did not get off his machine to see how badly the man was injured, but kept on going until the motorcycle skidded. However, he did not come back to the scene of the accident, it is said. Mr. Caffery was returning home from Connellsville, and he claimed Haddock was riding on the left side of the road. When the motorcycle struck Mr. Caffery it threw him over into the ditch. He was injured internally.

Mr. Caffery was born in England, a son of Patrick and Anna Caffery. Thirty-five years ago he came to this country, settling at Trotter, where he had since resided. He was employed by the H. C. Frick Coke company as a track layer and was well known throughout the coke region. He married Miss Ellen Meilen, who with the following children survive: Mrs. Arthur Pederson of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Thomas Linney of Latrobe; Mrs. P. J. Raymond of Latrobe; James of Adelphi; Francis, Edward, Christina and Camilla, at home. Two sisters, Mrs. John Carroll of Oliphant, and Mrs. Matt Charlton of Fredericktown, Pa., also survive.

George Juhel, 10-year-old son of George and Mary Juhel of Lehighville No. 1, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock near Lehighville when struck by an automobile owned and driven by Arthur Smith, a local negro. It is said that witnesses to the accident say it was unavoidable. Smith removed the injured boy to the Cottage State hospital where he died a few hours later of internal injuries. The body was prepared for burial by Funeral Director J. L. Stader. Funeral services were held this morning from the Greek church at Lehighville. Corner of H. Baum of Uniontown will conduct inquests into both accidents. No date had been set at noon today.

DEATH TOTAL IN DOUBT

Recovery of Bodies From Sunken Excursion Steamer Continues.

PEORIA, Ill., July 8.—With federal and state officials already at work a strong probability that the Tazewell county grand jury will be reconvened, every effort is being made to fix responsibility for the disaster to the excursion steamer Columbia which sank in the Illinois river Friday midnight.

The exact death toll is still unknown. It is more than 100 and probably is close to 150.

CATHOLICS BEGIN CANVASS FOR FUND FOR 1,200 ORPHANS

City and Nearby Territory Divided Into Teams to Raise Share of $100,000 in Diocese.

"Help the orphans" is the slogan among Catholics of the Pittsburgh diocese who yesterday launched a week's drive to raise $100,000 for the maintenance of 1,200 parentless children at St. Paul's orphanage at Idleness. The campaign closes Saturday evening. A dozen committees are at work in Connellsville and nearby localities included in the Connellsville parish. J. W. Ralston is general chairman of the movement here and also treasurer. A meeting of the team workers has been called for Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Knights of Columbus hall to hear reports and discuss the progress of the work.

No fixed amount has been announced for the city but an effort will be made to have a worthy showing. Liberty Bonds and War Savings stamps are being accepted where cash subscriptions are inconvenient. In his appeal to the people for aid for the orphans, Bishop Agas Canevin points out the much higher cost of providing the necessities of life and comfort and urges all to respond generously.

COAL RATIONING

To Be Instituted Among Domestic Consumers by Order of Garfield.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Rationing of coal to householders has been announced by the Fuel Administration as being among plans designed to prevent a threatened shortage of coal next winter. Each domestic consumer will be allowed only as much coal as is found to be scientifically necessary to heat his house to 68 degrees, provided every conservation rule has been obeyed.

The allowance for each household, the announcement said, will be sufficient for comfort, but "the thoughtless and wasteful consumer who finds his allowance gone after the end of the winter, will have only himself to thank if he has no fuel with which to heat his house."

The administration's plan involves a department of coal allotments in connection with each local fuel administrator's office, and this system will be put into operation at once. Each order for coal will be checked by comparison with the rating of the house where the coal is to be used. All consumers who have obtained a quantity of coal in excess of their allotments, or who, by deceit or misrepresentation, have violated any rules or regulations of the Fuel Administration, will be prosecuted.

MAY CURTAIL DELIVERIES

Local Merchants Have Conservation Question Under Discussion.

Merchants of Connellsville are seriously considering putting a restricted delivery service into effect here, and instead of making several trips to each part of the city, to have only one delivery in each section. The matter has been under discussion for some time but no definite action has yet been taken. The Conservation Division, War Industries Board at Washington, is calling on the merchants to assist in the conservation of man-power by curtailing deliveries and return privileges.

In some stores the return privilege has already been reduced to 48 hours, and in others it is 24 hours. Some merchants feel that the delivery system has been curtailed by them as far as possible as individuals and nothing more can be done until there is a concerted move on the part of every merchant in the city.

DATE FIXED

For Consideration of Petition to Close Fayette to Grouse Hunting.

Notice has been given that the Board of Game Commissioners has fixed July 26 as the date for considering the petition that has been filed for closing Fayette county to the hunting of ruffed grouse and Virginia and Hungarian quail for a period of three years, and ring-neck pheasant for a period of two years.

Parties interested for or against such action must file their approval or objections prior to one o'clock of the day fixed for consideration of the petition.

SHORTAGE OF WATER FOR WASH DAY AT ARNOLD CITY

PLANT IS CAUSE OF STRIKE

Two hundred to 250 miners at the Arnold City plant of the Pittsburgh Coal company near Fayette City did not work today because of a shortage of water—not at the plant, but in the homes of the men. Their wives—the washerwomen—were responsible.

For about two months there has been a scarcity because of the limited supply secured through the Fayette City Water company. For that length of time the women have been carrying water, it is stated, a mile to a mile and a half for domestic use.

Today 50 women, with empty buckets, appeared at the mine and announced that if the company did not provide water there should be no work. The men took up the cry and walked out.

The company, it is stated, had promised to provide a supply but had neglected to do so. It was expected steps would be taken today to establish water wagons daily.

COMMITTEE AGREES ON LEGISLATION TO CUT OUT LIQUOR

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Legislation to prohibit the sale of distilled liquors, wine and beer after January 1, 1919, and to prohibit the manufacture of wine and beer after November 1 next, was agreed on today by the Senate Agricultural committee.

The legislation is proposed as a substitute for the pending Norris amendment to the emergency agricultural appropriations bill which would stop the sale of distilled liquor and wine on June 30, 1919, and prohibit the manufacture of beer three months after the bill becomes law.

AMERICANS READY

To Meet the Long Delayed Third German Offensive Movement.

By Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, July 8.—Resumption of the German offensive against some part of the Allied line is believed to be near. For obvious reasons it is impossible to go into the subject deeply, but it may be said that other reasons appear to bear out the statement that the Germans are again about to attack, besides the fact that the usual resting periods between attacks have been concluded for all the enemy troops within the near future.

It may be said that there are three logical points for the enemy's attack—the Chateau-Thierry region, the line north of Chalonis and in the neighborhood of Abbeville, in the Flanders sector.

From the best information obtainable it appears that the Germans during the coming offensive will have between thirty and forty divisions capable of participating in the attack.

The American forces are tonight resting on their arms awaiting the offensive and if it happens that the enemy starts against the positions held by the Americans, which seems rather likely, the American troops will give a good account of themselves.

PRISONERS ESCAPE

Three Saw Way Out of County Jail Today at Franklin.

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 8.—Three prisoners escaped from the Venango county jail early today by cutting their cell bars with a hacksaw and two knives improvised as saws. They were Thomas Fahey and Thomas Carrell, waiting trial on a statutory charge. Today's jail delivery makes a total of eight men who have escaped in the same manner in the last three months.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

In his newest vehicle, Mr. Fairbanks is a genial laughing philosopher, who believes in happiness and who teaches winning a fortune for herself after her father dies, but in clearing his memory of the shame a rascally partner has placed upon him. The war charity bazaar scenes in the picture were staged in a mammoth armory interior. So spacious was this that the entire floor space of the studio was used. Glimpses of factory life are contrasted with the homes of the rich men who own these factories, and different phases of modern society are shown in this vital photodrama, illumined by the beauty of the popular star. "Shep," a handsome collie dog, appears prominently with Miss Allison. A selected comedy is included. Tomorrow, Irene Castle, known as the best dressed woman in America, will be starred in "The Hilliest Mystery," a thrilling Pathe attraction. Wednesday, "Which Woman?" A blue bird attraction, featuring Ella Hall and Priscilla Dean, will be shown. Thursday, Ethel Clayton, the celebrated screen star, supported by Rockcliffe Fellows, will appear in "The Man Hunt." Friday and Saturday, Mary Garden will appear in "A Splendid Sinner."

ARCADÉ THEATRE.

A wealthy farmer wishing his daughter to marry into royalty is in search for a husband of the nobility and finally succeeds in landing Count Murphy, who arrives to conclude the matrimonial engagement. Many funny situations ensue. The company carries a well balanced chorus of singers and dancers. Special scenery and exquisite gowns are among other features. On the screen will be Helen Holmes in "The Lost Express."

Are the Packers Profiteers?

Plain Facts About the Meat Business

The Federal Trade Commission in its recent report on war profits, stated that the five large meat packers have been profiteering and that they have a monopoly of the market.

These conclusions, if fair and just, are matters of serious concern not only to those engaged in the meat packing business but to every other citizen of our country.

The figures given on profits are misleading and the statement that the packers have a monopoly is unsupported by the facts.

The packers mentioned in the report stand ready to prove their profits reasonable and necessary. The meat business is one of the largest American industries. Any citizen who would familiarize himself with its details must be prepared for large totals.

The report states that the aggregate profits of four large packers were $140,000,000 for the three war years.

This sum is compared with $19,000,000 as the average annual profit for the three years before the war, making it appear that the war profit was $121,000,000 greater than the pre-war profit.

This compares a three-year profit with a one-year profit—a manifestly unfair method of comparison. It is not only misleading, but the Federal Trade Commission apparently has made a mistake in the figures themselves.

The aggregate three-year profit of $140,000,000 was earned on sales of over four and a half billion dollars. It means about three cents on each dollar of sales—or a mere fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Packers' profits are a negligible factor in prices of live stock and meats. No other large business is conducted upon such small margins of profit.

Furthermore—and this is very important—only a small portion of this profit has been paid in dividends. The balance has been put back into the business. It had to be, as you realize when you consider the problems the packers have had to solve—and solve quickly—during these war years.

To conduct this business in war times, with higher costs and the necessity of paying two or three times the former prices for live stock has required the use of two or three times the ordinary amount of working capital. The additional profit makes only a fair return on this, and as has been stated, the larger portion of the profits earned has been used to finance huge stocks of goods and to provide additions and improvements made necessary by the enormous demands of our army and navy and the Allies.

If you are a business man you will appreciate the significance of these facts. If you are unacquainted with business, talk this matter over with some business acquaintance—with your banker, say—and ask him to compare profits of the packing industry with those of any other large industry at the present time.

No evidence is offered by the Federal Trade Commission in support of the statement that the large packers have a monopoly. The Commission's own report shows the large number and importance of other packers.

The packers mentioned in the statement stand ready to prove to any fair minded person that they are in keen competition with each other, and that they have no power to manipulate prices.

If this were not true they would not dare to make this positive statement.

Furthermore, government figures show that the five large packers mentioned in the report account for only about one-third of the meat business of the country.

They wish it were possible to interest you in the details of their business. Of how, for instance, they can sell dressed beef for less than the cost of the live animal, owing to utilization of by-products, and of the wonderful story of the methods of distribution throughout this broad land, as well as in other countries.

The five packers mentioned feel justified in co-operating with each other to the extent of together presenting this public statement.

They have been able to do a big job for your government in its time of need; they have met all war time demands promptly and completely and they are willing to trust their case to the fairmindedness of the American people with the facts before them.

Of Coal Mined in Westmoreland County During Past Two Years.

According to information compiled by the commissioners of Westmoreland county 2,562.2 acres of the Pittsburgh seam of coal, including that in the coking basins, have been mined during the last two years. Coal land being assessed at from $400 to $500 per acre for taxation purposes, the exhaustion of the last two years has caused a reduction of $1,529,878 in the assessed valuation of the county.

The present rate of production being greater than in any previous year the exhaustion during the present year is expected to almost equal that of the two preceding years combined, while an even larger reduction will be made in the county's assessed valuation.

Va., Sunday to attend a gathering of relatives and friends of Dr. James Brownfield at his home there, the occasion being the anniversary of his birth.

The coal mines in this section all operated to capacity on the Fourth. The Stone-Coal & Coke company made their run on the night of the third so that any who desired might take the Fourth.

This was the quietest Fourth experienced in Smithfield in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Only for the autos passing through and a few scattering reports of fire crackers on back lots and alleys, a stranger passing through might have thought the town was abandoned.

A card to his mother from Walter Brownfield, who recently enlisted in the navy, stated he had passed the examination and was then enroute via Washington, D. C. to Port Royal, S. C. Miss Mary S. Woolsey, who visited relatives in this community for several days, returned to her home in Hazelwood Friday.

PLAYER HAS NERVE TO WEAR MUSTACHE

It has been some years since a ball player has had the nerve to wear a mustache during the playing season, but this spring Catcher John Henry of the Boston Braves grew one. Mustaches went out of existence among ball players when John Titus left the big leagues some years ago and none has had the nerve to display one until Henry came to bat this year. He probably became brave enough to sprout one because he plays with the Braves.

J. Howard Berry's Father Was Member of Many Clubs—Was Discoverer of Buck Herzog.

J. Howard Berry was a name known in baseball circles before the now famous all-around athlete of Penn. became a headliner on account of his wonderful versatility and skill in sport.

J. Howard Berry, Sr., was a professional ball player who was a member of more clubs than usually is the experience of even the most migratory ball players.

He was a playmate in his youth of Jesse Burkett. He played for Rockford, Ill., under Hugh Nicol, with the Athletics of Philadelphia, with Tom Burris of Hartford, with Waterbury as catcher for Wild Bill Donovan, with Philadelphia Nationals, and other minor league and semiprofessional teams.

It was Berry, Sr., who recommended Buck Herzog for his first professional engagement with the York club of the Tri-State league.

FRENCH SOON BECOME REAL BASEBALL FANS

As Enthusiastic Over Hit for Three Bases as for Boot.

Have Not Learned That Most Dangerous Place to Stand and Watch is Behind Bat—Big Entertainment for the Strollers.

Are the French people baseball fans? On his last anyone who was out on the Bois de Boulogne on a recent Sunday saw the thousands of excited Parisians crowding around the two baseball diamonds would answer that question with an emphatic "Oui."

The games were staged between the Medical Department Repair Shop No. 1 and the Searchlight Division, on one diamond and the Red Cross drivers and Y. M. C. A. nine on another. But the fans didn't know who was playing—nor did they care, says Stars and Stripes. Whenever someone cracked out a binger for three bags, a chorus of whatever is French for "Atta boy!" rose from the crowd. And whenever the shortstop made a boot and let the ball get through to left field, the fans liked it just as well as if he'd made the assist.

And the Paris games are the first in history where the umpire has a chance with the bleachers. The reason is that they don't know what or why or wherefore is the umpire. And the umpires, to date, aren't giving interviews to the Paris dailies explaining the duties of their positions.

But these new friends of our national game must learn that the worst place to stand while watching a game is behind the catcher. In the recent games they were crowded within two feet of the plate and it was impossible to keep them back. "C'est dangereux!" an American would yell at them. "Ah, oui," they agreed and moved back all of two inches.

Those games ran for only five innings, and within that time there were several casualties. When a foul came screaming over their heads, they laughed; when the catcher let a bad one pass and it tapped a fan on the head, everybody came back for more. There are bound to be some serious injuries when the league opens if provisions are not made to keep the enthusiasts from acting as backstops.

As a baseball game it wouldn't have got very many paragraphs on a home sporting page, but as entertainment for the strollers to Bois de Boulogne it was a world beater.

Guy Morton gave evidence the other day that he had completely recovered from the bad arm which kept him out of the game the greater part of last year, when he shut out the Red Sox with one hit, winning 1 to 0.

Emphatically Asserts Worn Out, Lagging Men Can Quickly Become Vigorous and Full of Ambition

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

Don't blame the man who is perpetually tired; his blood needs more red corpuscles and his brain and nerves are craving for food. Given the right kind of medicine, any tired-out, inactive, lagging fellow can quickly be made into a real live, energetic and even ambitious man.

He says a student of the nervous system who advises all men and women who feel worn out and who find it hard to get up ambition enough to take a regular job to get a package of Bio-feron at any drugist. This is the new discovery that pharmacists are recommending because it is not expensive and speedily puts vigor and ambition into people who despair of ever amounting to anything in life.

People whose nerves have been wrecked by too rapid living, too much tobacco or alcohol, have regained their old-time confidence and energy in less than two weeks.

No matter from what cause your nerves went back on you; no matter how run down, nervous or tired out you are, get an original package of Bio-feron at once. Take two tablets after each meal and one before bedtime—seven a day for seven days—then one after each meal till all are gone.

Then if you still lack ambition; if your nerves are not steady and you haven't the energy that red-blooded, keen-minded men possess, your purchase money will be gladly returned.

Note: Bio-feron. There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feron; it is printed on every package. Here it is: Leeching; Calcium Chloride; phosphate; Iron Phosphate; Manganese Peptonate; Ext. Nux Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phenolphthalein; Oleoresin Capsicum; Kola.

GUNNER DEPEW

Albert N. Depew

EX-GUNNER AND CHIEF PETTY-OFFICER, U. S. NAVY
MEMBER OF THE FOREIGN LEGION OF FRANCE
CAPTAIN GUN TURRET, FRENCH BATTLESHIP CASSARD
WINNER OF THE CROIX DE GUERRE

(Copyright 1918, by Daily and Evening Star, Through Special Arrangement With the George Matthews Adams Service)

On our sixth trip I saw H. M. S. Goliath get it. She was struck three times by torpedoes and then shelled. The men were floundering around in the water, with shrapnel cutting the waves all around them. Only a hundred odd of her crew were saved.

One day, off Cape Helles, during our seventh trip at the Dardanelles, we sighted a sub periscope just about dinner time. The Prince George and a destroyer sighted the sub at the same time, and the Prince George let go two rounds before the periscope disappeared, but did not hit the mark. Transports, battleships and cruisers were thick around there, all at anchor, and it was a great place for a sub to be.

In no time at all the destroyers breezed out with their tails in the air, throwing a smoke screen around the larger ships. They hunted high and low all over the spot where she had been sighted and all around it, thinking to ram it or bring it to the surface, so we could take a crack at it. All the rest of the fleet—battleships and transports—weighed anchor at once and steamed ahead at full speed.

It was a great sight. Any new ship coming up would have thought the British and French navies had gone crazy. We did not have any fixed courses, but were steaming as fast as we could in circles and half circles, and dashing madly from port to starboard. We were not going to allow that sub to get a straight shot at us, but we almost rammed ourselves doing it. It was a case of chase-tail for every ship in the fleet.

But the sub did not show itself again that day, and we anchored again. That night, while the destroyers were around the ships, we slipped our cables and patrolled the coast along the Australian position at Gaba Tepe, but we did not anchor.

The following day the Albion went ashore in the fog south of Gaba Tepe, and as soon as the fog lifted the Turks let loose and gave it to her hot. A Turkish ship came up and with any kind of gunnery, could have raked her fore and aft, but the Turks must have been pretty shy of gun sense for they only got in one hit before they were driven off by H. M. S. Canopus, which has made such a fine record in this war.

Then the Canopus pulled in close to the Albion, got a wire hawser aboard, and attempted to tow her out under a heavy fire, but as soon as she started pulling, the cable snapped. The crew of the Albion were ordered aft and jumped up on the quarter deck to try and shift the bow off the bank. At the same time the fore turret and the fore six-inch guns opened up a hot fire on the Turkish positions to lighten the ship and shift her to the concussion of the guns. For a long time they could not budge her. Then the Canopus got another hawser aboard and, with guns going and the crew jumping and the Canopus pulling, the old Albion finally slid off and both ships backed into deep water with little harm done to either. Then they returned to their old anchorages.

At Cape Helles every one was wide awake. We were all on the lookout for subs and you could not find one man napping. Anything at all passed for a periscope—tins, barrels, spars. Dead horses generally float in the water with one foot sticking up and we gave the alarm many a time when it was only some old nag on his way to Davy's locker.

On the Cassard the Old Man posted a reward of 50 francs for the first man who sighted a periscope. This was a good idea, but believe me he would have had trouble making the award for every man on the ship would be sure to see it at the same time. Each man felt sure he would be the man to get the reward. The 14-pounders were loaded and ready for action on a second's notice. But the reward was never claimed.

During our eighth trip off Cape Helles I was midships in the galley when I heard our two 14-pounders go off almost at the same time. Every body ran for his station. Going up the main deck to my turret a man told me it was a sub on the port bow but I only caught a glimpse of the little whirpool where her periscope submerged. I do not know why she did not let loose a torpedo at us. The officers said she was trying to make the entrance to the Dardanelles and came up blind among our ships and was scared off by our guns, but I thought we had just escaped by the skin of our teeth. Later on our destroyers claimed to have sighted her off Gaba Tepe.

At noon we were at mess when one of the boys yelled, "She's hit, and we all rushed on deck. There was the British ship Triumph, torpedoed and listing away over to starboard. She was ready to turn over in a few minutes. One battleship is not supposed to go to the assistance of another one that has been torpedoed, because the chances are the ship is still in the neighborhood laying for the second ship with another torpedo. But one of the British trawlers went to the assistance of the Triumph to pick up the crew.

We could see the crew jumping into the water. Then we breasted out toward the horizon, full speed ahead. All about the Triumph was a cloud of black smoke, but when we looked through the glass we could see she was going down. Then our guns began to bombard the Turkish positions and I had to get busy. When I saw the Triumph again she was bottom up. She must have floated upside down for almost half an hour, then she went down as though there was somebody on the bottom pulling her.

When she went over the bridge rail and swore at the Huns and Turks about his telescope lens to bits. About fifty from the Triumph were lost.

It was decided that the place was too hot for us with that sub running loose, and when they reported that afternoon that she was making her way south from Gaba Tepe to Cape Helles all of the fleet but the Majestic got under way, and the Majestic was the only ship left off the cape.

They said the Majestic was then the oldest of the ships in that campaign, but she was the pride of the British fleet just the same. She was torpedoed off Cape Helles later on when there were a number of men-of-war off the cape. The sea was crowded with men swimming and drowning. I saw a lifeboat crowded with men and other men in the water hanging onto her and there were so many hanging on that they started to pull her under. Of their own accord the men in the water let go to save those in the boat. Most of them were drowned.

The Majestic listed so that the men could not stand on deck, and the sides were covered with men hanging on to ropes and not knowing whether to jump into the sea or not. We lowered all our lifeboats and steam launches and so did the other ships. We picked up a number of the crew and were pretty close to the Majestic when she went down like a rock. As she went down she turned over and a garby ran along her side to the ram at her bow and got on it without even being wet. A boat picked him up off the ram, which stuck out of the water after the ship had ceased to settle.

She had torpedo nets on her sides, and many of the crew were unable to get clear of the nets and went down with her. Quite a lot were caught below decks and had no possible chance to escape. There was a big explosion as she went under—probably the boilers bursting. Thousands of troops on shore and thousands of sailors on the ships saw the final plunge and it was a sight to remember. When the ship started to go the Old Man rushed back to his cabin, got the signal book and destroyed it. Also, he saved the lives of two of his men.

We gave dry clothes and brandy and coffee to the Limeres we rescued and though they had just come through something pretty tough they were

CHAPTER XII

A Pal Crucified.

When we got to "V" Beach on my next trip the weather was really fine, but it did not please us much, for as soon as we got in range the enemy batteries opened up on us and the shell fire was heavier than any we had been in before, though not more effective. We drew in on a bright morning, about half past five or six, with our convoy, the troopship Cham pagne ahead of us and going slowly, sounding all the way.

Where the GOLIATH was wrecked.
Where the MAJESTIC was wrecked.
Where the CASSARD engaged the TURKISH and the KAISERLICHE MARINE.

At this part of the shore there is a dock about a mile and a half long, running back into the country and terminating in a road. The Champagne was making for this dock, sounding as she went. Suddenly when she was within 500 yards of the shore I saw her swing around and steer in a crazy fashion. We began asking each other what was the matter with her, but we learned afterwards that her rudder had been torn off, though we never found out how, nor do I think anyone ever knew.

Then she went around with her stern toward the shore and listed over to port. You could see different articles rolling out and down the side. Then her back broke. The quarter-deck was crowded with men half dressed with life belts on, jumping over the side or climbing down. There was an explosion and a cloud of black smoke broke over us and for a while I thought I was blinded.

All the time the shells were raining in on us and on the Champagne. When I could see again I saw the men on the Champagne climbing down the starboard or shore side. One chap was going down hand over head along a stanchion, when another fellow above him let go and slid right down on him. The first man fell about thirty feet, landing in the water with his neck doubled under him. Our lifeboats and launches were out picking up survivors.

Those who got safely over the side started to swim ashore but when they had gone only a little way they found they could wade in. When the water was only up to their waists they came upon barbed wire entanglements and not a man got ashore that way but was scratched and clawed and man gled horribly. Some of them that I saw afterwards were just shredded along the sides of their bodies like coconuts. A great many of them, though were killed by shrapnel while they were in the water.

On board the Cassard our guns had been busy all the time and it was not long before we put one enemy battery out of commission. We had suffered a bit, too, but not enough to worry us. There were about 3,000 men on the Champagne. I think and at least a third were killed or drowned, and the casualties must have been almost two-thirds. The ship was just a mass of wreckage.

They called for a landing party from the Cassard, and officers asked for volunteers for trench duty. I was not very keen about going because I had been in trenches at Dixmude, and I knew how pleasant they were—not, but I volunteered, and so did Murray. We went ashore in our boats under a heavy fire. There were 12 men killed in the lifeboat in which I was. I escaped without a scratch.

We were mustered up on shore and volunteers were called for for trench duty. Murray volunteered. If he had only gone on with the rest of us he might have come through. After a short wait we were given the order to advance. The firing became heavier about this time so we went at the double. We had not got very far before we had a fine little surprise party handed us.

The front line was running over what appeared to be good solid ground, when they broke through and fell into trenches 30 to 40 feet deep. These trenches had been dug, covered over with 1/2 inch boards, and then with dirt and were regular man traps. Sharp stakes were sticking out of the parapet and parados, and at the bottom were more stakes and rocks and barbed wire.

We were advancing with bayonets fixed and arms at the carry, so when the first line fell, and some of the second, the boys of the third line came running up and in the scramble that followed many of the chaps in the first few lines were bayoneted by their comrades. I was in the third line but I was lucky enough to pull up in time and did not fall in. You could not look down into that trench after you had seen it once, it was too sickening. Our casualties were sent back to the ship. One boat was sunk by a shell and all the men lost.

We remained where we were scratching out shallow trenches for ourselves, finding what natural cover there was and otherwise getting ready for the night, which was near. It began to rain and we could hardly keep any fire going because we had to shelter them from the shore side, so the enemy could not spot us and the wind was from the sea. It was certainly miserable that night.

Every once in a while we would stand by to repel an attack, whether it was a real one or not and we were under fire all the time. It seemed as if morning would never come. The sand was full of flies—great big boys—and they were as bad as any cooties I had ever had at Dixmude. The morning came at last and I was detailed with a fatigue party to the beach where we had landed stores. When we got down to the docks I missed Murray and asked where he was. They said he had been missing from his post not more than an hour from the time we left.

I left my fatigue party, without orders and joined in the hunt for Murray. There were men searching all along the docks and on the shore to each side. Finally I saw a bunch of men collect around a storehouse at the farther end of the docks on the shore side. I ran up to them.

There was poor old Murray. They were just taking him down. He had been crucified against the wall of the storehouse. There was a bayonet through each arm one through each foot and one through his stomach. One of the gables faintly when he had to pull one of the bayonets out. They had backed off his right hand at the wrist and taken his identification disc. I lay this to the German officers more than the Turks.

I do not know just what I did after this. But it changed me all around and I was not like my usual self during the rest of the time.

It was still raining when we started on our way to the front line. Along the road were numbers of troops looking and among them Indian troops on scout duty. They looked like a bunch of frozen turkeys cool and uncomfortable. We were close enough to make the roar of the cannonading seem intolerably loud and could see the bursting shells particularly those from the British ships.

Then we came across some Turkish prisoners who were shivering in an old barn I guess it was, and we stopped for shelter and rest. They told us that their troops were very tired from long fighting, but that they had plenty of men. They said a couple of shells had dropped about a hundred yards from the barn just before we came, so we knew the batteries were trying to get our range and we did not stay any longer but went away from there and on our road.

About 500 yards farther on we came to ruins and when we went inside we found 50 or 60 of our boys cooking and sleeping and not giving a thought to the shells or shrapnel. The mules outside were bawling away at the hay as though there never had been a war in the world. There was no shell made that could bugle them away from that hay unless it hit them.

Then along came a cart making a lot of racket. One of the fellows in it had half of his face shot away and was all bandaged up, but he was trying to sing and laugh just the same as the rest were doing. They were Anzacs, and were pretty badly shot up. The word Anzac, as you probably know is made from the initials of the Australian and New Zealand army corps. They had a regular town called Anzac, on the peninsula. At Anzac bay and around Gaba Tepe the Anzacs got further into the Turkish lines than any other unit in the allied armies. They were wonderful fighters.

SEE NO MORAL LAW

Prussians Naturally Cruel—Civilization Has Bad Effect.

Code Provides That Success Justifies Any Means the State Would Choose to Employ

Goethe said, "The Prussian is by nature cruel, civilization will make him ferocious." Goethe was prophetic—civilization as far as it can affect, he Prussian has made him ferocious and conceit has rendered him invulnerable to reform. Writes Augustus Thomas of the Vigilantes. Through scores of years of vigilantism, Prussia has been carefully fed and augmented by official and philosophical and literary and religious reiteration of German greatness until the idea has become national hypnosis.

This treatment has left the Prussian imagination with only a captive flexibility of the dachshund variety so near the ground that it seems to have been born under a bureau. Present Pan-Germany cannot see with its arrested spiritual development that its Kaiser as Emerson said of Napoleon is doomed to ultimate defeat, because he is fighting against the moral law of the universe.

They don't recognize moral law. They can't even see it, a dense materialism has covered their organs of spiritual perception.

It is their philosophy that success justifies any means the state may employ that the foulest methods are sterilized and made sweet by victory. They believe themselves divinely appointed in this world to put "Deutschland uber alles."

That conquest is good title.

That if you seize and take away the machinery from the factories of an invaded nation you can then arrest and deport the workmen for the crime of idleness.

That if you first take the people's food until they cry for bread, you may then lessen the demand by carrying their young and able bodied women in to ominous and unresponsive silence.

That the benign laws of "supplies verment" make Prussia the residuary legate.

That it is amusing to submerge a U boat when captured merchant sailors are located outside upon the deck.

That chloride gas is a proper weapon if the wind is blowing towards France but that it is contrary to international law if it is blowing toward Germany.

That they may crucify a Canadian if they take him captive but that if he captures them the cry of "Kamerad" puts him on his honor.

That to break bread with a man is the safest prelude to his assassination and that an ambassador's honorable exemption from police visitation makes him an ideal "fence."

America must be made to realize this code. She must be shown the map of Frederick the Great and then its black encroachment upon the surrounding nations that one by one have been assimilated.

She must learn that it is the Prussian instinct not to visit, but to overrun, to extend a sinister greeting with the left hand and with the right hand to spread the gangrene of bribery and betrayal, occupation and indemnity.

Dream of Perpetual Peace.

"Returning in the early days of the war from a belligerent Germany, through a mobilized Switzerland and a partly mobilized Italy, to an America that was still unperturbed and unprepared I revisited the famous museum of Naples," writes Munroe Smith in Case and Comment.

"In one of the central corridors I noticed an ancient mural inscription, which I had doubtless seen before, without appreciating its significance—an inscription of the time of Augustus: 'To perpetual peace.'"

"Thus even in warlike Rome, and more than 19 centuries ago after a series of wars that had shaken the then civilized world from the Alps to the African deserts and from the Pillars of Hercules to the Nile as after every great war that has since devastated Europe men's minds were turning with inextinguishable hope to the vision of a warless future."

Concerning Sponges.

Sponges are animals with power to eat and digest. They begin their life as tiny cell like creatures and have a short, free life in the sea, after which they fasten themselves to a rock and begin to develop. They grow into all sorts of shapes. Some branch out in all directions like fingers and are called mermaid's gloves. There are fan-like sponges, trellis-like sponges and cup-like sponges. There are sponges that form a carpet over the rocks, and sponges called by the fishermen "sea nests," because they look like birds' nests.

HAS HELPING HAND FOR ALL

Red Cross Meant—Appropriately Designated as the "Greatest Mother in the World"

Stretching forth her hands to all in need to Jew or Gentile, black or white knowing no favorite yet favoring all.

Ready and eager to comfort in a time when comfort is most needed; helping the little home that's crushed beneath an iron hand by showing mercy in a healthy human way, rebuilding it in fact, with stone on stone, replenishing empty bins and empty cupboards, bringing warmth to Leno's and hearths too long neglected.

Seeing all things with a mother's sixth sense that is blind to jealousy and meanness, seeing men in their true light, as naughty children—snatching, biting bitter—but with a hidden side that's quickest touched by mercy. Reaching out her hands across the sea to No Man's Land, to cheer with warmer comforts thousands who must stand and wait in steepled and crawling holes and water soaked entrenchments where cold and wet bite deeper, so they write than Soche steel or lead.

She's warning thousands, feeding, healing thousands from her store, the greatest mother in the world—the Red Cross—Warren Anderson in "Pack-ages."

Sets Pastor to Thinking.

If there should be a noticeable falling off in male pedestrian traffic on the east side of Illinois street, between Washington and Mainland streets, persons who have seen Sergt. V. B. Brown on recruiting duty will say he is responsible for it. The army recruiting station is 534 1/2 South Illinois street, and Sergeant Brown patrols that particular part of the city. If he sees a young man loitering under a shop window or looking at passers-by aboard the street cars he asks him: "Now, why aren't you in the army of your Uncle Sam?" He stopped a young clergyman. "I think I am doing my bit in my own way," replied the pastor.

Sergeant Brown reports that he failed to enlist the preacher, but said, "I set him to thinking"—Indianapolis News.

German Toys Not What They Were.

Simplicity is the rule in German toy shops now and wood once formerly used only for the cheaper toys, is now almost the only material employed. Lack of flour, which is used with cement to make the bodies, prevents the manufacture of new dolls. Wax, used for the heads, is almost unobtainable and the material for dresses costs four times as much as before the war. Toys cost at least twice as much as formerly, metal toys are few in number and some of the very cheap varieties cannot be had at all. The metal that formerly went into the making of trains, horses, soldiers, magic lanterns, etc., has been taken by the government for the manufacture of munitions.

Green and Mistrustful.

Thomas W. Lawson said in a Boston lecture: "The green speculator is apt to be more suspicious and mistrustful than the seasoned one. Green speculators by their actions often remind me of the farmer who went to the Boston & Maine station, put down a $20 bill, and said to the ticket agent: 'Round trip to Washington, young fellow.' 'Here you are,' said the agent. 'Change at New York.' 'No, ye don't, young fellow,' snarled the farmer. 'I'll take my change right here.'"

TOO WEAK TO WORK

Terment Woman Tells How She Regained Her Health.

Altburg, Va.—"I was run-down, no appetite, and too weak to do my housework—medicines did not seem to help me until I tried Vinol—I soon noticed an improvement, and am now well, strong, and able to do my work."

—Lillian Babba.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Miss Babba's case, is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones, and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich, red blood and create strength.
